GROW YOUR DEALERSHIP BY DELIVERING AND SERVICING FLEET VEHICLES

Learn more about the TFA program and how to get started!

Benefits That Can Drive Your Success

Some of the largest companies in the world are driving Toyota Fleet vehicles. Your dealership can benefit from this market of over 45,000 vehicles and growing by providing the same industry-leading delivery and services for fleet drivers that retail guests have come to expect.

Revenue Opportunities

- Courtesy Delivery Fee (up to $350, up to $450 effective January 1, 2026)
- Pre-delivery Service (varies by series)
- Administrative fees (title, licensing, registration)
- Possible storage fees (for vehicles not picked up after 30 days)
- Maintenance and repair (e.g., via ToyotaCare)

Additional Opportunities

- Retail referrals: A potential source of revenue from vehicle sales, service visits, and parts and accessory sales
- A new stream of potential used vehicles or TCUVs from returned vehicles
- Out-of-Stock sales: Potential revenue opportunities when fleet vehicles need to be replaced
- Fleet Management Companies (FMCs) probably track the quality of the fleet experience with different dealerships. So, your commitment to an exceptional fleet delivery and service experience could really pay off.

Dealership Commitments

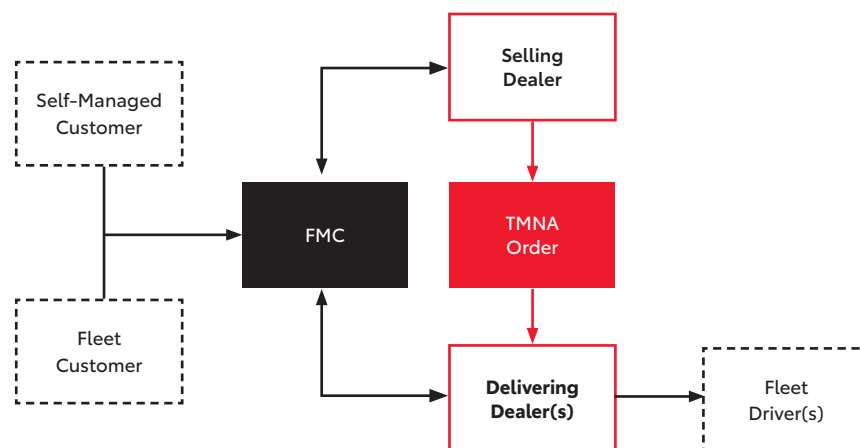

To help ensure that the TFA program is successful, dealerships are expected to:

- Coordinate and perform the same courtesy delivery experience for fleet drivers when they pick up their vehicles that our retail customers have come to expect.
- Appoint and register a Fleet Manager and at least one TFA Professional in StaffMaster.
- Limit the delivery fee charged to the FMC to an amount defined within the TFA procedures and guidelines.
- Acknowledge and abide by the guidelines set forth in the Toyota Fleet Advantage Program Guide and the Policies and Procedures Manual.

Toyota Fleet At-a-Glance

For the TFA program to be effective, communication between all participants involved is essential:

- Fleet Customer: The company that owns or leases the fleet (usually a business, government, utility or non-profit)
- Fleet Management Company (FMC): Acts as the liaison between the Fleet Customer and the Selling and Delivering Dealers
- Selling Dealer: Sells vehicles to the FMC (or self-managed customer) and works closely with them to assist in all aspects of the purchasing transaction, including financing, ordering fleet vehicles and arranging delivery with a Delivering Dealer
- Delivering Dealer(s): Provides high-quality courtesy delivery experiences for fleet vehicle drivers
- Drivers: Are provided fleet vehicles by the customer

What Is an FMC?

A Fleet Management Company manages fleets for commercial customers. An FMC will usually work with the customer, the selling Dealer and delivering Dealer(s) as needed through the life of the fleet contract:

- Supplies statistical analysis, detailed vehicle specifications and financing information to the customer so they can select fleet vehicles based on their needs
- Purchases the selected vehicles through a selling Toyota Fleet Dealer
- Coordinates delivery of fleet vehicles through one or more delivering TFA Dealers
